General Harrison Makes Senator Quay's First Visit.

Interesting Correspondence Withheld from the Public.

Many Distinguished Voters to Meet at Indianapolis.

A New Commandery of the Loyal Legion Organized.

[Special Correspondence of the Gazette.]

MENOMINEE, Dec. 19.—At 5:30 o'clock, shortly members of the new Indiana commandery met at the Bates house and with Commander in Chief [illegible] presiding the new commandery was [illegible] and inaugurated. Major General Lew Wallace of Crawfordsville was elected commander. General Harrison was among the members present and participated in the formation of the new commandery.

The banquet tendered visiting members of the Loyal Legion at the Bates house tonight by the newly-created Indiana commandery was the most successful entertainment ever given in Europe. The dining hall was tastefully decorated in the national colors. General Lew Wallace presided as toast master of the occasion, and on his right sat ex-President Hayes, to his left Col. W. H. Howe, commander of the Loyal Legion of Missouri. After spending an hour discussing a choice and select menu, interspersed with stirring songs by Chicago and Missouri visitors, the [illegible] toasts proper were entered upon, [illegible] being an address of welcome by Major General Lew Wallace, delivered in [illegible] style. Following the address of welcome the presiding officer announced the toast "The Loyal Legion," to which General Rutherford B. Hayes, commander-in-chief, responded. At the conclusion of Hayes' speech, [illegible] were stood and drained to the health and longevity of the Loyal Legion. Other toasts were responded to by Lieut. James S. Ostrander, Eugene Cary of Chicago, Col. D. W. Clang, and Col. D. P. Dwyer, of Texas. The attendance of distinguished soldiers from all over the country was very large.

Fiftieth Congress.

SENATE.

WASHINGTON, December 19.—The bill to incorporate the American Historical association passed.

Edmunds introduced and had referred a bill [illegible] on foreign relations [illegible] as follows:

Resolved, That the government of the United States will look with serious concern upon any [illegible] upon any connection with any European government with the construction or control of any ship canal across the Isthmus of Darien or across Central America, and must regard any such connection or control as injurious to the just rights and interests of the United States and as a menace to their welfare.

Resolved, That the president of the United States be requested to communicate this expression of the views of the senate to the government of the Republic of Costa Rica.

On motion of Spooner the house bill was passed to the senate bill for a [illegible] of San Francisco to dispose of [illegible] for $65,000 to be used for [illegible] and [illegible].

Mr H B Martin, traveling freight agent of the Midland arrived in the city yesterday

Mr John F. Cherry, a wholesale commission merchant of Kansas City was in the city yesterday for a few hours

We are informed by A. L. Lawton of Mr. Kennedy, Scads for the Boston Land Co, that prices of lots in Roswell will be advanced this week.

There will be a meeting of the Gun club Friday afternoon at 3:30 p m. at No 102 Pike's Peak avenue. A good attendance is requested, as the rose business of importance to members

Mr. D. B. Robinson, formerly general manager of the Midland, and Mr B. C. Bosworth, formerly superintendent of machinery, arrived in the city yesterday. Mr. Robinson left in the evening for the east.

The Manitou Journal has been enlarged by improved body. The patent inside has been abandoned and the paper is issued one column in size. It devotes much more space to local matters than ever before.

The Mozart Choral society is progressing rapidly in its rehearsals of Joseph and will be in excellent shape for the concert next month. The meetings will occur on Thursday evenings for the next three weeks, beginning to morrow night.

On account of the resignation of Policeman Atkinson all of the remainder of the force have been advanced one number. Officer Mieyer the oldest man on the night force, has been transferred to the day force. Mr Atkinson, it is said will engage in business at Colorado City.

Testimony in the case of E. T. Massey and E. G. Walls, for shooting at one Gilmore, was continued in Justice Corman's court yesterday. Hearing of evidence on both sides was concluded and the case was continued until next Thursday morning at 10 o'clock, when the arguments of the counsel will begin.

A new time card went into effect on the Denver, Texas & Ft Worth road on Sunday last. By the new time card the morning passenger train for Denver leaves Colorado Springs at 10:20, connecting at Manitou Junction at 10:45, and the afternoon train leaves at 3:35, arriving at the Junction at 4 o'clock.

The Simons Boston Symphony Orchestral club is engaged for one of their choice entertainments at Denver during next month. Manager Nye, of the opera house, has opened negotiations with the manager of the company as he is anxious to secure one of their concerts. The organization is composed of some of the soloists and leaders of the celebrated Theodore Thomas orchestra of New York and Boston Symphony orchestra, and if Manager Nye can complete arrangements we will have, without doubt, one of the grandest musical entertainments we have had the good fortune to hear in Colorado Springs.

The New York Journal has the following to say about the new play which will be produced at the opera house next week by Jos. R. Grismer and Phoebe Davies, supported by an excellent company: "A. M. Palmer produced his new play 'The World Against Her,' for the first time in America last night at the People's theatre. It is the best play which Frank Harvey has disposed of to American actors, and far superior to 'Woman Against Woman' and 'The Wages of Sin,' which have attained more or less success in the states. We will probably never get a play quite equal to the 'Two Orphans' because such plays are not written more than once in twenty-five years, but 'The World Against Her' has abundant grounds for favorable comparison. There are numerous domestic scenes of moving pathos, well constructed and dramatic, and the whole movement of the play suggests the hand of a master dramatist."

DIED.

Wrong Impressions Corrected!

No one should suppose because of the quantities of Indian goods to be seen in our store that such things are plentiful or easily obtained. As a matter of fact they can only be picked up here and there in the Indian country by persistent efforts. While on my recent collecting trip I bought everything I could find in this line that I considered Fair Stable, without any regard to quantity, and I doubt if all other Curiosity Stores in Colorado and New Mexico together could make so fine and large an assortment of the VISIBLE SUPPLY. It may be said in fact that we have a CORNER ON THE MARKET. We do not intend to take advantage of our customers on this account, however, but will give them all a chance to come in and COVER THEIR SHORTAGE before the prices go up.

We are having brief histories of some of our Indian wares printed on slips of paper, and customers who buy such articles for presents will be furnished with as many of the slips as they need for their friends. This will save much writing and the slips may be kept with the articles in the package.

We pack for shipment, without extra charge, all articles sold by us, as we know what inexperienced packing of such goods will result in disaster.

We have a large stock of Gold and Silver Filigree Jewelry this year made by Mexicans in Santa Fe, and our stock of Native Jewelry in all its goods is very complete.

We have just had five dozen choice stone Indian arrow heads mounted as Scarf and Lace Pins, and have had them cut from Mexican Opals, handsomely mounted in Scarf Pins and Finger Rings, one of which will be on sale this morning.

Some one asked me the other day if I thought any Opals white in New Mexico. Why, we have the best year out of a lot, [illegible] of Opals than all the dealers in New Mexico together, and I took Opals on them with me to sell to them at wholesale. We are [illegible] for the largest Opal dealer of Mexico.

The late Lord Stanhope's notes of conversations with the Duke of Wellington just published in England by John Murray, will be issued in America by Longmans, Green & Co. Lord Mahon was very intimate with the victor of Waterloo for the last twelve years of the Iron Duke's life and he set down from day to day Wellington's Table Talk, which is always interesting and often important. Wellington was as frank and as direct as Grant, and like the great commander the Englishman was prompt to praise his chief adversary. Besides giving us Wellington's opinions of Napoleon, of Talleyrand, of his own army, and of the comparison of himself to Marlboro, Lord Stanhope's book abounds in quotable anecdotes.

Heretofore in the south the lawless element has always been protected. It has never been customary to save the prisoner when a mob wished to lynch him. Above all things, it has been a perfectly safe thing to kill a negro for being "sassy." But two events have happened in the last few days that will be likely to throw a good deal of cold water on the martial spirit of the "Ku Klux Klan" element. The brave and determined act of the sheriff at Dinning-[illegible] ... will do more, to restore law and order in the south than any act since the war. The mobs have heretofore never expected the law officers to make more than a feigned attempt to oppose their measures. The sheriff ought to be canonized. It is a matter of congratulation that the governor of Alabama approved the act of this sheriff. Our dispatches yesterday morning gave an account of the slaughter at Wahalak in Mississippi. It seems that a negro was "sassy" and a hundred and twenty-five whites went out to lynch him. The mob got the worst of it as ... ought. At least five whites were killed and six wounded. This is the first time that the negroes have resisted attack. There has been peace in the south, for the simple reason that there was no striking back. It is difficult to foresee what may happen now that the negro knows that he can strike back effectively. We hope the result will be to teach the murdering gang, that has taken the law in its own hand and killed the negroes, to trust to the regular channels of the law for redress. With white juries and white sheriffs, there ought not to be any fear of fair play for the white man in the courts. But if these gangs continue to take the law into their own hands, it is to be hoped that the negroes will no longer encourage it by passive submission. This may be the beginning of a settlement of the southern question, which shall result in the negro having his rights respected.

Our extracts from Joe Shelby's report were so much enjoyed by our readers yesterday that we give one of two more pearls of thought from a report of his raid on Springfield, Missouri, in January, 1863. It should be remembered that this report is official, and was found in the rebel archives. The report is to General Marmaduke and begins, "On the last day of December, 1862, when the old year is dying in the lap of the new, and January has sent its mourning winds to wail a requiem at the post," etc. Skipping the account of a very wonderful ride, we give the following description of his arrival in front of Springfield:

The sun rose upon the mantle of the earth like a ball of fire, and the day was gloomy and chill but springfield loomed up before us in the distance, like a beautiful panorama, and the men watched for the first view of the town, forgetting all their trials and hardships at the sight of ... for the moment relieving. With renewed interest and all the pomp and circumstance of war the colonels had ordered guidons to be unfurled, and their pennants to float in the breeze, and the men ... against the ... and ... and drawing ... and ... and ... while the sun shone out ... curling its yellow hair on earth and sea and mountain, and lent the three ... a warmer and ... feel.

Shelby fought with his accustomed fierceness far into the night and of course whipping the federals at every point and drove them before him. He drops into verse, like Silas Wegg in his description of the battle. As usual his brigade "covered itself all over with glory" and were unparalleled heroes and as usual the colonel held the battle field and ... Shelby ... decamped during the night and advanced home. The death of three of his horses is described in the following:
